

Founder Spotlight: Greg Buchel

You may know the story of Big Horn Armory, but do you know much about our founder? Before starting Big Horn Armory, our founder, Greg Buchel, was an architect, as well as an owner/operator of a software manufacturing business.

So how did Greg get into firearms you might think with a background like that? Well, what you don't know is that Greg has had a passion for firearms since he was a small child. His great uncle introduced him to the wonderful pastime of shooting sports and taught him how to shoot. He's been interested ever since. His first firearm was a Remington single-shot 22LR rifle.

So, being the founder and owner of Big Horn Armory, you might be wondering, what's his favorite BHA firearm? Well, the answer to that is the yet-to-be-released AR500 Super Max Rifle. It will be the most powerful AR-type rifle in existence. The 500 Super Max cartridge is capable of over 6000 ft-lbs. of muzzle energy and can deliver 2500+ ft-lbs. at 500 yards. Greg hopes to be able to bring this rifle to the public as soon as ammunition becomes available.

When asked why he enjoys working at BHA, Greg tells us that he's "never worked a day in my life. I have always enjoyed what I do, whatever it is. Why? Because I only do things that I like and are worth doing.:"

When Greg's not working at BHA, he enjoys cooking, baking, woodworking, and of course, shooting! He anticipates rapid growth for Big Horn Armory over the next few years as it continues to bring new products to market.
