

Employee Spotlight: Kari Hinthner

This month we would like to introduce you to Kari Hinthner. Kari is a Sales Account Manager at BHA.

Before working at BHA, Kari had a long-standing and accomplished career in the firearms industry with roles in product management, marketing, and sales. She has worked for Beretta USA, Kimber Mfg., and Barnes Bullets before moving to Cody, Wyoming. She is also an NRA CRSO and Pistol Instructor, as well as a Certified Long Range Instructor.

Kari has always had a love and passion for firearms and firearms-related activities. She grew up in a family that valued firearm ownership and hunting. Her first firearm was a Rossi pump action in 22LR.

“I enjoy working at Big Horn Armory because I can represent a product that I truly believe is the best in the market. I have always had a love for fine firearms and at Big Horn Armory, I am surrounded by them every day!” said Kari.

She enjoys the work environment at BHA because everyone there shares the same passion for firearms and are all dedicated to producing the highest quality firearms they can.

Kari has always considered her taste in firearms to be “functional snobbery,” meaning that she loves the look of a finely built firearm, but she is not afraid to go out and use it as it was intended. With that being said, Kari is currently eyeing the Model 89 chambered in 500 S&W Magnum with a 16” octagon barrel, color case hardened receiver, and a nice stock, to add to her collection. That is her dream rifle to carry in her saddle scabbard one day.

When she is not at work, she enjoys spending time with her husband Marc and her dog Lucy, shooting guns, backpacking, Jeeping, and getting outdoors. She is also a long-time competitive shooter competing in many genres including sporting clays, long-range precision, and 3Gun. Kari has two rescue horses that she has rehabbed and trained and spends several hours with them each day as well.
